OPSEU Supports the Fight for $15 & Fairness

Ontario's Ministry of Labour is reviewing the laws that govern our workplaces. This is a once-in-a-generation opportunity to win real improvements for all workers, whether they have a union or not. Join OPSEU, the Ontario Federation of Labour and the Fight for $15 & Fairness on Oct. 1 to rally for decent work for all.

Stronger minimum employment standards for ALL workers:

- Rules that promote fulltime, permanent work
- Equal pay for equal work
- Fair scheduling
- At least three weeks paid vacation
- Paid sick days with no requirement for medical notes
- Hold employers responsible for wages and working conditions even if they use temp agencies and sub-contractors
- An end to contract flipping
- Proactive enforcement of the law

Rules that make it easier to join and keep a union:

- A return of card-check certification to prevent intimidation
- Access to first contract arbitration to stop union busting
- Successor rights for workers employed by subcontractors
- An anti-scab law to stop strike breaking

Rules to protect vulnerable & precarious workers

- Stronger protections for workers who stand up for their rights
- Protection from unjust dismissal
- An end to workplace harassment and bullying

A $15 Minimum Wage

- No worker with a full-time job should live in poverty. It's time to raise Ontario's minimum wage to $15 an hour!
